Explanation of Video Types:

Promotional Video – is typically designed to spark interest about its subject matter. It does not give many details and entices the audience to investigate further on their own.

Testimony Video – style is usually specific to a person or persons who have been through a particular life altering event and they tell us about their experience and how it affected them physically or emotionally and what they learned from it. Typically they are interviewed and either pictures or b-roll are shown while they talk.

Narrative Style Video – This format usually involves a script. It is usually used to tell a story in a way as to evoke emotion in the audience as a means to persuade them to do something.

Informative Style Video – This format simply gives information– ex. our ministry has 4 options for doing this and here they are.
